Safeguarding

Oakfield commits to following agreed procedures, whilst ensuring the workforce within the School are trained in accordance with Section 175 Education Act 2002. This section of the Act states that "...training should be every two years for designated teachers for child protection and every three years for the rest of the staff, including non-teaching staff and welfare staff.

Our School will therefore:

- (a) Establish and maintain an ethos where children feel secure and are encouraged to talk and are listened to.
- (b) Ensure that children know that there are adults in the School who they can approach if they are worried or are in difficulty.
- (c) Include in the curriculum, activities and opportunities for Personal, Social, Health Education and Citizenship, which can equip children with the skills they may need to stay safe from abuse.
- (d) Include in the curriculum, material which will help children develop realistic attitudes to the responsibilities of adult life, particularly with regard to child care and parenting skills.

Before confirmation of appointment, all staff (both teaching and non-teaching) and including volunteers who apply to work at Oakfield will be subject to a rigorous recruitment process to ensure, as far as possible, their suitability to work with children. References will be taken up and they will be required to give evidence of their qualifications and details of previous experience and work history. As part of this recruitment process, all potential staff will be required to declare any criminal record. Criminal Records Bureau checks will be undertaken. No one will be employed if it is considered they are unsuitable to work with children.

At Oakfield, we are committed to Safeguarding and Child Protection training. The Head Teacher, Designated Person for Child Protection and the nominated Governor for Child Protection will undertake the relevant training for their role, in accordance with Section 175 of the Education Act 2002. This will require training every two years.

All other staff will receive relevant training on Safeguarding and Child Protection in accordance with the same section of the Education Act 2002 every three years.
